

actesy – a startup with 30 years «IT migration background». Many of our founding members have been working on complex IT projects for more than three decades – across several software generations and industries.

This wealth of experience is the basis for the new beginning that we dare to make with actesy. We are sure that revolutionary ideas only come about when you think radically new. Or as Albert Einstein said: «What is conceivable is also feasible».

actesy – over a dozen software and process professionals who have created an incomparable digitization tool with groundbreaking ideas and concepts. We have combined our experience from IT projects in medium-sized companies and global corporations with individual solutions and standard applications from leading providers to open up a way out of software embracing for users with the actesy metadata framework. We aim at application integration, software modernization, data integrity and process optimization in networked organizations.

Successful projects in the pharmaceutical and food industry (life sciences), in the automotive industry and in mechanical engineering, at banks and insurance companies show: with the actesy metadata framework you can create your own individual project on the way to digitization. We have experience with practically all leading ERP and CRM systems on the market.
